The combined ages of the three brothers is 244 years, a fact which was noted when they came together for their annual reunion. Mr. Mann, the youngest of the trio, is 78; his brother, William Hosea Mann, also of Brattleboro, is looking back over a life of 80 years, and the eldest brother, Nathan D. Mann of Wilmington, has attained to the age of 86. All three are enjoying good health.

Others have supplied their own families and those of their neighbors with summer vegetables and will harvest later crops. Throughout the summer the garden work has been continued under the supervision of resident teachers or with the assistance of other local people and a carefully kept record of what each student has accomplished will be available in the fall.

The number of poliomyelitis cases in Barre since the malady first made its appearance early in June remains stationary at 10, although three patients have been released from quarantine and most of the others are on the road to partial or complete recovery. The condition of the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gustafson of 94 Prospect street remains serious, as the patient's spine and left arm are badly affected. For the reason that many children have their homes in the four-tenement house where the Gustafson child is ill, the quarantine is strict and the patrol continues without relaxation. Some doubt is entertained as to whether the public and private schools in Barre will be permitted to open on schedule time, and it is expected that an announcement from the board of health will be forthcoming in the near future. Moving picture proprietors in Barre stated to-day that they had obtained permission to reopen Monday.

Copy for an attractive brochure which is to contain the program for the annual convention of the National Cemetery Superintendents' association, to be held in Barre next week, is in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution at the end of the present week. Vermont men who are down on the program for speeches or papers include Gov. Horace F. Graham, Judge Frank J. Martin of Barre, Prof. George J. Perkins of Burlington, state geologist, Prof. G. P. Burns of Burlington, who is at the head of the department of botany at the state university; Atty. S. Hollister Jackson of Barre. Trips planned by the Barre Entertainment association are described at length in the booklet and it is announced that the Barre pipe and drum band will play at various times during the convention.

COUNTY AGENTS TO BE INCREASED

Extension Workers in Agriculture and Home Economics of U. S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—Plans have been made to expand immediately the co-operative extension work of the United States department of agriculture and the state agricultural colleges, by a large increase in the number of county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents. Women agents will be placed for the first time in the larger towns and cities. More or less technical training in agriculture and home economics will be required in this service. The appointments are to be made on the recommendation of the director of extension work at the state college. Approximately 1,400 men agents and 500 women agents are at present employed. The plans formulated contemplate the extension of the men county agent work to all the rural counties of the union in which there is a need for the work and the placing of an additional agent in some of the larger counties already organized. They also contemplate a considerable increase in the number of women agents engaged in extension activities. The number to be employed will depend upon the number of trained men and women available. Proved ability in leadership as well as technical training will be required.

The use of city agents in the conduct of the extension work of the department is a new departure made desirable by the importance attached in the present food crisis of the world to the conservation and efficient utilization of foods. The city demonstration work will be carried on by women agents who will work in co-operation with the existing organizations of women.

The aim of the extension work is to carry directly to as many people as possible information in regard to proved methods of agricultural production and home economics. Economy in the purchase of food, and methods of food conservation by canning, drying, etc., will be emphasized. The men county agents are concerned chiefly with agricultural production while the women are employed in demonstration work in home economics.

With funds furnished in the food production bill the state relation service also will seek greatly to enlarge the enrollment of young people in the boys' and girls' clubs which are devoted to increasing agricultural production and conserving the food supply through canning, drying and other means.

The service also will work out problems in the efficient utilization of various foods and will aid institutions devoted to agricultural education to plan and conduct courses of instruction especially suited to the present emergency.

WILL ISSUE WEEKLY WAR NEWS

U. S. Will Make Daily Statements When Troops in France Get Into Action.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The first official summary of the war activities of the United States will be issued in a few days by Secretary Baker, to be followed weekly thereafter with statements of such matters as may be disclosed without violating military precautions.

The exact nature of the statements has not been made known. In announcing his intention to begin the practice, however, Secretary Baker said he would go just as far as the military advisers of the government deemed it wise toward informing the public of what was in progress. Information of every sort reaching the department will be scrutinized for publishable matter and the impression was given that the statements would not be confined exclusively to past action; but would probably contain forecasts wherever permissible.

When American troops get into action in France daily statements probably will be issued, founded upon the reports from General Pershing. This has been the British custom and will be followed by the United States.

Regarding many rumors of disasters to American troops or shipping, constantly being circulated, Mr. Baker reiterated emphatically the pledge of the administration to withhold no news of misadventure of the forces from the public. Every untoward happening will be announced promptly, he said, and the public may rest assured that no news means good news to that extent. Such rumors as have been current recently, he said, were without any foundation whatever.

The extent to which naval happenings can be made public is a different matter. Secretary Daniels has promised that news of disasters will be given out with as little delay as possible, but it is not to be expected that the extent of damage to naval craft, temporary disablement of destroyers or other vessels either as a result of action or through accident will be disclosed. The practice of all countries has been to keep the enemy as much in the dark as possible on such matters.

Too Learned.

"That ere Sammy's an educated toff from 'Arvard," said Tommy Atkins, leaning on his spade. "I'm jolly well weary of 'is learnin', too, that I am. We're ordered to throw up trenches along the Marne, and as 'e picks up 'is spade, th' bloomin' college blighter says, says 'e: 'Well, Tommy, come on; it looks like we're infra dig!' And wot I says is: 'Blast a college education, anyhow, eh!'"—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The Comique theatre on Main street, which has been closed for two months because of the infantile paralysis quarantine, will be opened again Saturday afternoon, and patrons will be pleased with the changes made in the moving picture house. During the enforced period of suspension of business, the owners have had the stage moved to the rear about 12 feet, allowing more space for seats, and the capacity has been increased from 450 to 525. The walls and ceiling have been painted a cream color and workmen have also changed the entrance so that congestion at the door will be relieved if not entirely removed. The theatre will be under the management of Mr. Schultz as before.

At the regular city council meeting to-night the matter of holding band concerts for the remainder of the season will be given a consideration. But one concert has been given this summer.

The school board has taken up with the board of health the question of opening the schools at the usual time of commencing the fall term and a decision is expected this week. It is possible that the opening may be postponed for two weeks.
